I feel the true effect of the changes won't be realised until the changes are made. All level of governments generally make changes and it realised later that the change was of no benefit.

The change doesn't really affect where I live in the ward, so I am unsure what impact this will have to those who live near the proposed boundary changes.

As this change doesn't directly affect me where I live within the ward, I am unable to ascertain what issues there may be with such a change.

By getting back our local councils and no longer being part of the super city.

Failing that, each ward should have its own board or council of members who represent that wards best interests and presents those findings to Auckland council

The old system of individual local councils provided a far better structure to achieve local representation for local issues.

As for specific allowance for special Maori representation - this is pure . There is no justification for race based representation.

Local Boards are important and are best placed to deal with areas and issues of common interest in ways that would be extremely challenging for an overall Council the size of that of Auckland. As such, it is good to maintain vigilance on population changes of significance and ensure a reasonable parity of representation.

The East Coast bays needs to be separated from the Hibiscus Coast. There is no relationship to the two areas. In the past we use to have our own Council, now the the East Coast Bayes does not even have any local Councilors and seems to get overlooked or ignored in the Super City.

We have 20 councilors, 1 mayor, 149 local board members, and then there are 20 MP representing Auckland. This is more representatives than many small countries have to govern their entire counties. But despite so many representatives they do not have control of key council functions like transport and water. So, reduce the number of representatives and take Auckland Transport and Watercare back under council control.

The local Chinese community is also very eager to participate in the work of the district committees and management organizations. Currently, it is difficult to find young Chinese individuals to engage in this representative work full-time, while older members face language barriers. A more significant obstacle is that many issues of concern to the Chinese community have not gained sufficient attention from the management, resulting in a lack of communication. We hope that in the future, there will be more effective channels for interaction with the district councils and management organizations, so we can work together to build a better community.

The local resident population has changed significantly in recent years due to new real estate developments and immigration. Compared to six years ago, it has altered considerably, so it is necessary to readjust the number of representatives in each electoral district.

Albany has recently seen many successful real estate developments. With the increase in apartment buildings, the number of residents has also multiplied. Therefore, it is necessary to adjust the representation of the electoral districts accordingly.

At the promotional seminar, we learned that in addition to the rules of fair representation, the city government also considered other factors when introducing this plan. One important factor was the actual needs of the community. We support this approach.

6. Do you have any other feedback about how you and your community can be better represented through local boards and the governing body?

The local Chinese community is also very eager to participate in the work of the district committees and management organizations. Currently, it is difficult to find young Chinese individuals to engage in this representative work full-time, while older members face language barriers. A more significant obstacle is that many issues of concern to the Chinese community have not gained sufficient attention from the management, resulting in a lack of communication. We hope that in the future, there will be more effective channels for interaction with the district councils and management organizations, so we can work together to build a better community.

1. Overall, what is your opinion of the changes outlined in the representation review initial proposal?

I do not support the proposed changes to the ward boundaries within the Rodney district, which will result in the Warkworth ward having one less representative on the Rodney Local Board. Warkworth is earmarked as a major growth area in the region and must therefore have its representation maintained.
