1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   No

   Tell us why?

   Clendon already has a waste dumping problem due to our bins already being too full. It will cause major issues.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   My house has 3 people and 4 cats. With our normal rubbish and cat litter. It is already full every week. And no other options to dispose of such large amounts of cat litter and household rubbish is ridiculous. Rather we need BIGGER bins or more rubbish collections Not less rubbish collection.

   It is a ridiculous idea, majority of us here have 5+ people living on the property. I personally have 7 people living at home. The bin we have now is full within 4 days, we recycle and sort food scraps and still have a lot of rubbish.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   There is going to be so much dumped rubbish, people are already dumping g rubbish in the streets already, the smell is going to be horrible, I live near the Weymouth beach, there are already rats all around.

   No

   Because we have 3 kids and our rubbish bin gets full in a couple of days. And we dont have a large bin its a small one. Making it fortnightly will be very devastating as we will end up over filling and spillage around.

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   No

   Tell us why?

   It is such a disgusting thought to have rubbish sitting around for 2 weeks.

   Rubbish will include un-rinsed food containers and meat packets, aerosol cans and other items which during the warmer weather coming will leave a stench.

   Looking at the weekly service, the small bins are full. If transferred to fortnightly, the bins will be overflowing andor rubbish put to the side for clearance and probably not cleared as it is not in the bin. The multiple roaming dogs would tear into the bags and leave rubbish blowing around the streets. Will this be cleaned by council? Dumping of excess rubbish by public bins, same effect with dogs.

   The smell of 2 weeks worth of rubbish sitting outside a house will be bad, this could also have uninvited guests such as mice and rats into the property.

Do you consider this proposal to be appropriate with health and safety of the large families? Our health system is already under pressure, are you prepared to add to that?

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

Why didn't council provide better communication to the public in the proposed areas regarding this matter?

Will you provide true findings if this trial proceeds, e.g. cost comparisons?

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   No

   Tell us why?

   I think making this change in our local area is going to gain more rubbish dumping, the timeframe for the rubbing bags sitting there is going to cause rodents due to the time that the bins/bags will be sitting there for. This alot of households will struggle to put 2 weeks worth of rubbing in a small bin. Charging. Having waste bins and recycled bins still doesnt help this problem and 2 weeks of food waste will become smelly and start moulding and now with the warmer weather the smell is going to become worst then what it is at the moment

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   One of the worst ideas that could be considered. Really have a think about this because if anything it's going to cost the Auckland council more then what they pay on the weekly basis already. Rubbish will be dumped more and as above the smell + rodents, attract many roaming kind of pets and like mentioned above so much more dumping then what we already have here locally.

   I am against the fortnightly rubbish collection trial because i think it would be a waste of time. I believe ultimately this is about money, well our rates have gone up and I would like my weekly collection to continue as is. I pay for it, my family needs it, and that is that.

   The weekly rubbish bins are full to over flowing at for a great number of the bins in my area all that will happen is fly tipping will increase markedly .

   I would say at least 50% of bins are 120 litre some of which service large households which the vast majority are renters who need landlords / property managers to get the larger bins which have a cost .

   I think you will see a lot of recycling bins being filled with refuse and more non recycling waste

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

I just had a trip to Sydney and asked people about their rubbish collection and they said general household rubbish was weekly and 2 weekly for recycling and green waste also had that conversation with a relative visiting from Melbourne who said the same thing

   Weymouth is an area with already consistent dumping issues. I am concerned about offensive odours increasing. eg food juices in & on food wrappings not able to be put in the scrap bins. also accidents eg deepfreeze failures & the need to promptly deal with this issue. Our household carefully uses the recycle bin & food scrap bins & I understand this has already considerably reduced rubbish output.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   why only trial lower socio-economic areas where complacency or lack of resources will likely see a low level response to this survey. Why not Howick, Botany, Ellerslie or Remuera?

   Illegal dumping is already an issue in this area, (Clendon) delaying collection will only increase this pressure as people come up with their own solutions to dispose of rubbish that doesnt fit in a full bin.

   The amount of rubbish is not reduced, onky shuffled.

   Food waste smells bad and attracts vermin and bugs. Fortnightly collection is not a fast enough turn over.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

Your solution lies in manufacturers reducing packaging and plastics. Introducing regulations to manufacterers reduces the source of waste.

Are you acurately measuring Illigal dumping to acertain if there is any increase?

More People would dump at the refuse statoon if it was cheap for Community Card Holders.

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   No

   Tell us why?

   Clendon/weymouth has a problem with illegal dumping currently. Our area is going to be worse off if we go ahead with the trial. Our housel

   Hold recycles and uses the scrap bins for food waste. Our landfill bin is the small one. Our landlord won't upgrade our bin to the larger type. We have our small red bin just full with our household doing our bit to recycle. Where is our 2nd week of rubbish going to go? On the road?? I garentee, this will push people to dumping everywhere.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   For my household, we do our bit to recycle with our landfill bin being full every week. If we had the bigger bin then maybe. Trial the bi weekly in councils areas. This is not solving the issue by trialling in one of aucklands lowest income areas. It will just bring more issues that council won't care about.

   Fortnightly rubbish (red bin) collections would create havoc ie: extremely overfull bins, more than what currently occurs. The stench (especially with the summer season approaching) as well as dogs and cats would create more mess. If collection days are going to be reduced, will Rates be reduced - probably not!

   We are going to end up with unhealthy living conditions due to smelly rubbish, rats and more disease. We will end up more rubbish dumped and left outside on grass verges before collection days and not cleaned up after collection days. It also will not save any money at all. It shouldn't happen anywhere especially not Weymouth or Clendon. There are many large families in this area as well and bigger bins will not stop the rubbish from stinking and spewing out of bins everywhere. attracting more roaming dogs and rats etc.

   You need to be aware of the amount of rubbish being put on the roadside weekly as it is. Where we live there are numerous bins which are already overflowing on a current weekly collection. You run the risk of introducing pest issues in these areas should there be a buildup of rubbish due to a delayed collection cycle.

   I need weekly rubbish bin collection. The buildup of waste over a two week period is unacceptable. The health and safety of our community will also be adversely affected. I regard this as a core function of Auckland Council. Do not reduce our waste collection from weekly. Thank you for your kind consideration of my concerns.

   My main concern is an increase in vermin. Already in the last decade there has been a noticeable increase in cockroaches and rodents in the Clendon area. Moving to fortnightly collections WILL increase this. There are also 2 more prevalent issues in our area that will exacerbate the worsening cleanliness. That is 1: the roaming dogs that knock over bins and tear up bags leaving rubbish all over the streets. And 2: you must try harder to convince me that illegal dumping will not increase! This is laughable with how common dumping is already... sadly. We need proactive SOLUTIONS to our dirty problems and council must be stepping UP, not cutting costs!

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

Run the trials in the most expensive suburbs in Auckland first to see how they like it. The reasoning behind trialling in areas with larger families and mixed economical backgrounds is weak. The poorest areas have no power. This would not fly in Remuera or Epsom.

   The unauthorised dumping will just get out of hand and will make the area look disgusting. People already struggle with their waste. Maybe fortnightly rubbish collections but give us all the bigger bins. This will mean the same waste is being collected but money savings by not having the worker and the trucks going around weekly.

   Weymouth is not suited to a fortnightly rubbish collection. The suburb has a wide range of housing types, including many larger family homes and multi-generation households that produce more waste than smaller urban apartments. Expecting these households to store two weeks' worth of rubbish is completely impractical. Bins will overflow, attract pests, and cause strong odours, particularly during warmer months when rubbish breaks down faster.

   Many parts of Weymouth are close to the coast and mangroves, so wind-blown rubbish and overfilled bins will quickly end up in our waterways and along the foreshore. This proposal directly risks increasing pollution in the Manukau Harbour, which already faces environmental challenges. Reducing collection frequency will only make the situation worse and undo years of community effort to protect our local environment.

   Fortnightly collection of rubbish will be insufficient to meet disposal requirements. It is unfair to force people into the trial as there will be additional costs for disposal. If you must run a trial this should be ran in higher socioeconomic areas better able to bear the costs. Running this in clendon park will lead to an increase in illegal dumping . Furthermore if there is issues with the level of rubbish being collected then the excess packaging on everything should be regulated.it is near impossible to avoid as everything is wrapped in plastic, polystyrene and cardboard it is impossible to avoid.

   Food scraps collection has removed the need for almost all potentially smelly waste to end up in bins going to landfill.

   As an example, my own weekly landfill rubbish typically consists of a bag about the size of a loaf of bread containing non-recycleable items.

   I share the bin with two like-minded neighbours.

   It is normally less than half full, with three households' rubbish in it.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   I think bring back the dusties if you don't know. Rubbish truck 1 driver and two runner's picking up rubbish bags.

   As a home owner I use a large bin for a family of 4-Adults. I pay for good service each week not fortnightly.

   Family's in this area 4-6 range per family

   Most homes in my area use the smallest bin which on rubbish day over flowing. Even a large bin family's will struggle.

   During the busy sesson's long weekends' lots of family's gather, Celerbrations,Tangihungi, for a fortnightly pickup leaving family's having to hold there rubbish until the week after.

Cause: During Summer, Flies, Maggots, Animals dog's cats rip into the bags, bad oder, leaving you to clean up the mess.

Question: If Tangihunga: And the family needed to get rid of their rubbish they would be changed again to dump it.

due to fortnightly pick up.

Now if the council want to change this to fortnightly then there will be illegal dumping which the council will add to the rate payer.

With new development in the area more people more house more bins this would be a disaster if this goes ahead for fortnightly.

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   I am writing to strongly oppose the proposed change from weekly to fortnightly rubbish collection. This decision does not take into account the realities faced by larger households with more than two occupants.

   The current small wheelie bins are already barely adequate for weekly use. Extending the collection period to two weeks will inevitably lead to overflowing rubbish, unpleasant odours, and potential health and hygiene issues — particularly during warmer months. This poses not only a nuisance but also a genuine environmental and public health risk to the community.

   Furthermore, there is a serious concern that reducing the frequency of collection will lead to more illegal dumping. When bins are full and households are left with no alternative, some residents may resort to disposing of waste irresponsibly, which would create even greater problems for both the council and the community.

Many ratepayers, including myself, expect the council to provide services that meet the basic needs of all residents. Larger families should not be disadvantaged by a one-size-fits-all approach. If the council insists on proceeding with this plan, then larger households must be offered practical alternatives — such as larger bins, more frequent collections, or an opt-out option.

I urge the council to reconsider this proposal in the interests of fairness, public health, and community wellbeing.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

Yes. I believe the council should carefully consider the wider impacts this trial will have on households of different sizes. Larger families, households with young children, or those who generate more waste due to medical or care needs will be unfairly affected by a reduced collection frequency.

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   Yes

   Tell us why?

   this will lessen the carbon emissions, save manpower on driving the truck to collect rubbish.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   yes, I would suggest that you have to issue additional red bin and food scrap bin prior to doing the trial.

   based on my household, the red bin and food scrap bin is full on a weekly basis. this will not work if it's fortnight collection. there are 2x families living in our house.

   Our concerns are, the size of families in south auckland are typically larger, and not always tracked. We are concerned that bags of rubbish will be left beside bins or illegally dumped. We already have a big illegall dumping issue in clendon park.

   You say its to help beautify the space, however we find people are good at putting bins away. Id rather see bins every week than rubbish dumped.

   I can see this working for other areas but not worth auckland. More work needs to be done around food scrap and recycling education.

   We also believe more people will just dump rubbish into recycling.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

Not a good idea for South auckland.

   Because as a taxpayer I should have my rubbish collected weekly. The housing infrastructure that's happened, has bought in more people(mostly foreigners, but that's another subject). We already have people dumping rubbish all over the recreational parks etc, that should be enough for you to say "NO" also. And, anyway those ones that drive around in the flash new trucks that we pay for, don't even make an attempt to just stop and pick up the rubbish. they just drive by.    We are a household of 5, 2adults 3 kids and currently using 120L rubbish bin and actively use our food scraps bin and yet our rubbish still gets filled up to the rim by our weekly collection day. 1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   I would like to express my concern regarding the proposal to change our rubbish collection from weekly to fortnightly. At present, our household rubbish bins are already full by collection day each week. Reducing collections to a fortnightly schedule would likely result in overflowing bins and create potential health and hygiene issues.

   Additionally, this change may encourage some residents to dispose of their excess rubbish improperly, such as illegal dumping, in an effort to avoid paying disposal fees at the tip. This would not only impact the appearance of our community but also place additional strain on council resources.

   For these reasons, I strongly believe that maintaining a weekly rubbish collection service is the most practical and responsible option for our area

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

Continue weekly general waste collection, but add more education and support to help households reduce waste.

Allow residents to choose their service frequency (weekly or fortnightly) based on household size and needs.

Offer a larger bin for those who need it (e.g. families, multi-unit homes, people with medical waste).

Introduce reduced rates for households that can genuinely manage fortnightly pickup, encouraging voluntary participation.

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   In our area in Manurewa, we already have issues with people illegally dumping rubbish. Some of our homes also house multiple families. This can be seen by the amount of vehicles parked up in the neighbourhood. This means that since there is high density of people living in single homes, complexes e.t.c, your usual standard bin would not be big enough to hold weekly rubbish. If we were to move to fortnightly rubbish pick ups, we will see an increase of illegal dumping of rubbish which would ultimately cost us to get it removed every week anyway. I live in a 3 bdrm house which houses 2 elderly, 3 adults, 2 teens and a 5 yr old. We use the recycle bin, food scraps and rubbish bin correctly every week and we still have full bins every week. We also have problems with stray dogs and cats entering our property attacking our bins. I cant help but think how bad it would get if we were unable to empty our bins weekly therefore I do not think fortnightly collections will be good for our community.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

Please consider the density of people living in housing complexes in and around Manurewa. More people in confined spaces means more rubbish in confined spaces. On rubbish collection days I always see over loaded bins, even extra rubbish bags on top and beside our bins. Which then opens it up for strays to get in our bins and wreak havoc on our streets.

   I understand what council is trying to do with minimising waste in Auckland but I don't think this will solve waste issues. I feel this will create more problems especially for illegal dumping. I've seen a lot of dumping in Auckland due to missed collections, bins being removed or too full. So if collections change, this "may" help families manage the use of their bins but it will also cause another problem which will double the waste problem yous are trying to minimise. If you think about your workers also, this may increase in jobs due to more dumping; I would suggest looking for another way to help minimise waste ORRRR solve illegal dumping issues first (respectfully).

   Trials can help us understand our relationships to waste and how to reduce the total volume.

   Our household already puts our rubbish bin out about monthly. Maybe the trial will uncover ways to promote this kind of voluntary reduction.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   Council has increased investment in combating illegal dumping in Manurewa and other areas. However, Council needs to direct staff to be much more proactive and even innovative in both combating illegal dumping into our reserves and in assisting with waste reduction in all sorts of ways.

   How can people who dont drive, for example, take soft plastics from Weymouth to Holmes Rd or Manukau?

Battery recycling could also be made much more local.

Council has been advocating for product stewardship schemes for many years. Maybe more communication about this work would be helpful in building support and reducing waste?

Notwithstanding electioneering, there is considerable public support for Council to progress skilful waste reduction approaches.

Thank you and good fortune.

   Many family's in my community have a large number of people living in small houses, and already struggle to manage waste with their current bin size. Reducing collections will have an immediate increase in rubbish dumping, and cause significant health and safety issues. Diapers, and sanitary pads for example, which cannot be put in food scraps will create significant biowaste issues, odours which will impact everyone 24/7, and trigger a cockroach infestation the likes of which we have never seen. There is also an increased likelihood of roaming or wild animals causing chaos knocking over bins or getting hurt by dumped rubbish. Weekly waste collections are an essential part of how we maintain basic hygiene standards, and we need to be doing MORE, not less. Bringing back inorganic collections for example, where people can safely get rid of what they need to, and those with the know-how to repair things can save or repurpose items.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

Why are you not considering adding e-waste collection, polystyrene collection, and wood collection?

This would divert a good portion of waste to streams that can best manage it, pre-sorted.

Why has the trial excluded promanant areas like Remuera, Ponsonby, and Kohimarama?

Has the option been considered to allow people to burn their own waste in fire pits, or at a community furnace facility?

   There are a greater results and impact in overflowing rubbish, illegal dumping and even if the council says they will monitor the trial closely, this is already happening and there's no monitoring. Frustrated homeowners, rubbish put into the recycling bin and in desperate times, families might put rubbish into their neighbours or even at work.

   The places that have worked is a much smaller scale but part of this Auckland trial, why are the proposed areas do not include North Shore. It would be covering a larger scale if included and will help indicate the whole of Auckland to get a fair understanding on

   - how households manage with less frequent rubbish collections
   - what support they might need
   - what affect this has on reducing waste to landfill.

   Tell us why?

   Most households in those areas have the smaller of the two rubbish bin size options - and you only have to drive past on rubbish day to see how full they all are. Most landlords in the area aren't going to pay the extra rates cost to get the larger bin for their tenants, and tenants can't opt to pay for the difference themselves.

   There's going to be a larger amount of contaminated recycling bins now or illegal dumping - and I think if you're going to do something like this you need a backup plan, such as easier drop off recycling options and encouraging the recycling of soft plastics.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

Residents in the areas that move to fortnightly recycling should have their rubbish rates fees reduced during that time, as they’re paying for full waste management costs yet not receiving the benefit of that.

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   No

   Tell us why?

   The move to fortnightly rubbish collection is completely unreasonable for everyday households. Families generate waste quickly, and storing two weeks' worth of rubbish leads to overflowing bins, bad smells, and pest problems. It's not just inconvenient—it's a health risk.

   What makes this worse is that we're still being charged the same rates for half the service. In the middle of a cost-of-living crisis, where food prices are already through the roof, this feels like another way the government is quietly cutting corners—shrinkflation in disguise.

   And suggesting people upgrade to larger bins? That's not realistic. Many households already have the biggest bins available, and others simply can't afford to pay more for something they shouldn't need in the first place.

We’re being asked to accept less, pay the same, and deal with the consequences. It’s not fair, and it’s not sustainable. Weekly rubbish collection needs to be reinstated—because clean, safe communities shouldn’t be negotiable.

   From watching media and reading the consultation paper, I understand the trial is to motivate people to better use their scraps, rubbish and recycling bins. I have noticed in my area that there seem to be less weekly scrap bins placed out It would be good to understand why and I believe the trial will 'not' provide that answer. I support the idea but believe it won't change the habits of people. It will make them annoyed as they believe council is dictating to them without offering solutions.

   Fortnightly rubbish collection seems like a good idea but it it not. One is rubbish builds up and needs to be disposed of for appropriately if we move to fortnightly more illegally dumping of rubbish will happen, rubbish bins will over flow, will the council be cleaning up public bins more because people will have to be using them. If this trail is successfull will we be able to dispose of our packing at the shops which products are bought form case we won't be able to use the home bins cause 2 weeks is two long to hold rubbish. As it is twice this year the bins have been missed and had to call the rubbish collection even though the bins were out in time. What happens around public holidays when we already have a delay in rubbish collection. Will the government move to have more items recyclable as it is we have to Putin out rubbish bin the milk cartons, lids of bottles and the other recycle numbers that New Zealand dosent process both other countries do. Increase what we can recycle, make more packing from business recyclable then this may work. If not this idea will be be a disaster Anubis will overflow everywhere clean Nz no more.

   The current illegal dumping in the area is already at a high within multiple reports in a day. As a member of the community and living next to a park report at least 3 cases a week. The dumping has been inorganic, I believe if the proposal were to take place there is the potential of people dumping household rubbish which in turn would increase the risk of rodents and infestations within public areas. It could potentially also increase the risk of roaming dogs in public spaces due to household rubbish being dumped.

   Another factor being that majority of houses in the area have the small rubbish bins which from are already too small for the larger families in south Auckland. What benefit would they have in order to compensate for their household rubbish if current situations are already filling their bins? what financial aspect would be put in place to compensate for the people who are already have the larger bins and paying that in the yearly land rates to compensate the equality needed to balance home owners and renters?

   While my own household would be fine on a reduced collection, every day I walk our dogs around the streets in our suburb. On Wednesdays, collection day there are many large rubbish bins out, and many are overflowing already. Big households on low incomes do not have the time, resources, knowledge or energy to put into taking other rubbish to appropriate sorting centres. The council would be better off doing an education blitz at primary school level and promoting what goods are actually recycled. Incentivise and educate. Provide a way for recycling and sorting centres to take electronic goods. I see so much dumped rubbish - this indicates lack of knowledge on what to do with excess rubbish already, reducing bin collections will not have a good effect on poorer suburbs which already struggle. Dump fees are also extortionately high, so people resort to dumping next to public bins and down quiet streets. How is a reduced bin trial going to help with that?

An alternative would be for people to opt-in for a trial and they receive reduced rates or a gold star on their bin or some other kind of reward. Christchurch did a recycling trial and those who did well at recycling got a reward sticker on their bin. Trial positive ideas rather than punishment ideas. Or stick to suburbs that can cope.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

See suggestions in feedback box above.

If the trial goes ahead, what mailing address can I use to send the council any extra rubbish I pick up on my daily walk? It'll be cheaper to send a courier bag than using the dump, having been there recently for green waste...

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   No

   Tell us why?

   No, I do not think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas. As a resident who values reliable weekly collections for maintaining hygiene and preventing neighbourhood blight, I'm deeply concerned that this change could backfire on waste minimisation goals by creating overflows, encouraging illegal dumping, and sparking health issues without delivering the promised reductions in landfill waste.

   For starters, reducing collections to fortnightly risks widespread bin overflows, especially in larger households or during warmer months when waste decomposes faster. A health impact assessment of alternate weekly collections in the UK found residents on such schemes reported significantly more odors and insect problems compared to weekly services, with complaints about pests like flies that could exacerbate respiratory issues from air pollution caused by rotting waste. In Auckland's own past shift to limited bins in Manukau in 2017, there was a temporary spike in illegal dumping during summer, showing how even small disruptions can lead to messier streets rather than less waste overall.

On illegal dumping, the evidence is alarming—reduced collection frequency has been linked to sharp rises in fly-tipping. During COVID-related service cuts in the US, Keep Pennsylvania Beautiful documented a 200% increase in illegal dumping from 2019 to 2020, with similar overflows turning into hotspots for more dumping of items like diapers and appliances. In the UK, councils already face over 1.8 million annual complaints about uncollected waste, many tied to overflows and missed pickups in areas with fortnightly or longer intervals, leading to rats and piled-up rubbish that discourages proper recycling altogether. Extrapolating this to Auckland's trial areas like Te Atatū Peninsula or Howick, where space is tight, could mean more taxpayer costs for clean-ups—currently $1.7-1.8 million yearly citywide—without cutting overall waste arisings.

Even on the waste minimisation front, the benefits seem overstated and conditional. Auckland's current food scraps participation is only 34%, far below the 55% in Hamilton where fortnightly rubbish is paired with stronger incentives. Without guaranteed high uptake in diversion services, households might just cram more into bins or bags, negating reductions—UK trials showed higher recycling only when education was intensive, yet complaints still surged. Recent UK examples highlight the backlash: residents in areas facing three-weekly collections are "fuming" over the hassle, with one in ten councils now considering cuts amid funding woes, leading to 4,500 daily complaints nationwide. In Australia, similar reductions to every three weeks have locals up in arms, calling it a "disgrace" that piles pressure on vulnerable families.

Instead of trialling this disruptive idea on 10,000 homes, the Council should invest in better education, more drop-off points, and subsidies for composting to boost diversion rates while keeping weekly rubbish intact. This would truly minimise waste without risking our communities' health and amenity.

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   No

   Tell us why?

   I strongly oppose the proposed fortnightly rubbish collection trial in Clendon and Weymouth. This proposal does not reflect the real living conditions of many families here — particularly Pacific renters who often live in multi-generational or larger households within smaller rental properties. Most of us simply don't have the space to store two weeks' worth of rubbish inside or outside the home. Overflowing bins attract rats, insects, and dogs, and cause bad smells, which quickly become a health risk. The trial unfairly impacts renters who have little control over property conditions and no ability to increase bin size or arrange extra collections.

   Pacific families already contribute to community cleanliness and recycling efforts, but we need systems that work for our realities, not against them. A one-size-fits-all trial ignores cultural and household differences and risks worsening inequality between suburbs. Council should instead focus on education, more frequent food scrap collection, and better community consultation before making changes that hit our communities the hardest. Clendon and Weymouth deserve fair, practical waste services that support healthy, safe, and dignified living conditions — not cutbacks disguised as trials.

   Weymouth deserves reliable and practical services, not cost-cutting experiments that create more problems than they solve. Instead of reducing collection frequency, the Council should invest in better recycling education, more accessible waste drop-off options, and targeted support for households that need help managing waste responsibly. A one-size-fits-all approach simply doesn't work for a diverse community like ours.

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   No

   Tell us why?

   I have strong concerns about the proposal to move to fortnightly rubbish collections. While I understand the intention to reduce waste and manage costs, this approach assumes that the volume of waste households produce will simply reduce — which is unrealistic.

   Even with weekly food scrap and fortnightly recycling collections, the amount of general waste in many Auckland households will not decrease enough to make a fortnightly rubbish collection practical or hygienic. Reducing frequency does not make the waste disappear; it only delays its collection. This can lead to overflowing bins, pest issues, unpleasant odours, and greater public dissatisfaction.

   If the goal is to minimise waste going to landfill, more focus should be placed on education, incentivising waste reduction, and improving access to recycling and composting options — rather than cutting back essential services.

In summary, reducing rubbish collection frequency may save costs on paper, but it risks creating greater environmental and community issues in practice. I urge the Council to reconsider this approach and explore more effective ways to achieve waste reduction without compromising public health and amenity.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

Many Auckland neighbourhoods already struggle with rubbish ending up on the street, particularly in higher-density areas or where bins are shared or limited. Extending the collection cycle would only worsen this issue, creating eyesores, attracting vermin, and undermining the city's cleanliness and safety.

Maybe its time NZ invested in Incineration and power generation.

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   No

   Tell us why?

   Cause these areas you've chosen, have dense house over capacity of occupants which don't have alot of outdoor space e.g 3 storey and 2 storey apartments with increased dense housing which will increase more rubbish dumping in our public areas due to lack of space to store rubbish indoors or in our properties. More rubbish left on the streets which in turn will make it unsafe for our community to walk around especially our children who walk to and from school. I see it as a health hazard and also it will attract more stray animals to dumped rubbish which is another safety concern. Decreasing our rubbish collection will only make our community struggle even more. We are already in the trenches with the cost of living, increased crime, lack of healthcare accessibility, lack of animal control and general safety concerns. So honestly this trial won't do our community any better. We need weekly rubbish collections, we have larger family numbers in most households here. We are on survival mode. Please take in consideration my submission. Thank you. Joan

   I strongly oppose the proposed fortnightly rubbish collection trial in Clendon/Weymouth. Most Pacific renters here live in larger or multi-generational households, often in smaller homes with limited storage space for waste. Reducing collections to once a fortnight will cause overflowing bins, bad smells, and hygiene issues, especially during warmer months. This change unfairly impacts renters who cannot easily store excess rubbish or afford extra services. The Council should not trial this in areas like Clendon/Weymouth, where the impacts will fall hardest on Pacific families already managing tight living conditions.

   Waste of money, what's wrong with one rubbish bag per week? I think that's pretty ideal. You can't expect us to have one rubbish bag of waste especially that we put our bones/wasted meat or trays in the freezer to overfilled or defrost in the bin for another week until we try and force another bag of rubbish in there. It's too much, will cause distress. Our area is known for illegal dumping, we're going to expect a lot more of that if you do this trial that WE never asked for and YOU, AUCKLAND COUNCIL will be responsible for. Stop wasting taxpayers money on this, and focus on what's the real problem which is illegal dumping. Teach those to consume big items more carefully and to come up with a better plan how to make it work. What happened to our campaign "BE A TIDY KIWI". That was the best times, before 2014 so bring that back because this generation doesn't know how to clean up after themselves or take care of our area. I know everything starts at home but this trial, or even plan is a big NO!

   We usually go through about three full bags of black rubbish each week, as there are five adults living in our household. I don't want smelly rubbish sitting around the house—especially during summer. It's important that the rubbish is cleared every week to maintain a clean and healthy environment.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   Yes, take inorganic rubbish as an example—people dump their waste everywhere, and it doesn't look good. The same thing will happen with general rubbish if it's left for two weeks.

   Not everyone is the same—some people don't care about the environment and will litter. We already have enough rubbish around our area, and extending the collection period will only make things worse.

   We do need to take practical steps to learn about reducing waste and negative environmental impact - but this needs to have education and public engagement as central features!

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   However, this needs to be approached in a way that will empower populations to actually reduce their waste and avoid dumping. This needs education and it also needs more resourcing (more bins available from the start of the trial) to ensure that families aren't going to end up dumping waste that doesn't fit in their bin! If the trial involves simply changing collection to fortnightly, it is going to have a significant HARMFUL impact on the environment when families start dumping waste after the first week! There needs to be resources available for families to get rid of waste while they SLOWLY ADJUST to a new collection regime.

   The area i live in is mostly multi tenanted houses. large familes. Lots of members in one household, weekly rubbish removals already doesn't seem enough with bins over flowing every week, in every direction i look! The issues our area has with illegal dumping is outrageous as it is - i live opposite bush - black sacks of rubbish are dumped throughout here regularly. If you move to fortnightly - this problem will be out of control.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   Our local parks and bushes are not maintained enough. On many occasions i have seen your staff pull up, park for an hur, not get out of their vehicle and drive off, having done NOTHING!

Also, phoning to report roaming dogs is pointless - you say you'll be there in 3-5 days - WHAT A JOKE, the dogs would killed multiple family pets by then.

   One of the areas you are trialling is very close to where I live and I think this will impact me eventually as council will just go ahead with it,get it over the line and then 'trial' and implement it in my area as well like they usually do without any consideration whatsoever on the effects it will have to the communites involved. Its all well and good to try and minimise waste but you are going about it all wrong. The Clendon area is a community made of mostly of the working poor and alot of families who can barely just cope with the weekly collection as it is,so this will see overflowing bins and fly tipping plus rubbish being blown into the streets leading to more roaming animals and further vermin infestation in the general area. This sort of scheme needs to start with the actual manufacturers of the excess plastic packaging,and not the end user. Its not the consumers fault that goods they purchase come wrapped or are packaged in unrecyclable materials so why should they be penalised?

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

Alot of families in the area have toddler right up to adult age range and are barely coping with near overflowing bins on rubbish day. If this goes ahead it will make the area look like a dump site and it is a poor area full of beneficiaries that simply cannot afford bigger bins,so where do you think all this rubbish will end up? Dumped on sides of roads,at local parks and playgrounds,by the coastal shores and in public bins which will in turn compound the problem.

   There are already enough illegal dumplings as it is in our area with weekly pick ups. This will only accumulate with less rubbish pick ups, making public areas even more unattractive. Also the fact that fortnightly is not enough for my family of three as we go through a full rubbish load a week especially at the moment with baby nappies.

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   No

   Tell us why?

   Changing rubbish collection to fortnightly does not solve the real problem — the amount of waste being produced in the first place. Most household rubbish comes from excessive product packaging, which families have little control over, and reducing collection frequency only adds stress to households that already struggle with limited space, especially larger families. Less frequent collection can also lead to hygiene issues, with overflowing bins attracting pests and creating unpleasant smells. If the goal is to reduce waste, the focus should be on prevention through encouraging sustainable packaging, clearer recycling systems, and community education, rather than punishing households by collecting rubbish less often. Real change comes from addressing the source of waste, not from reducing how often it's taken away.

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   No

   Tell us why?

   Our rubbish bins are already full by the end of each week, so moving to a fortnightly collection would likely result in overflowing bins and hygiene issues. This could attract pests, create unpleasant odours, and make the waste area difficult to manage. A longer collection cycle might also discourage proper waste separation, as people would have less space to store recyclables and general waste separately. Overall, it wouldn't be a practical solution for our site.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   I think it would be better for the council to focus on improving recycling and composting initiatives rather than reducing rubbish collection frequency. Educating residents on proper waste separation and providing better recycling infrastructure would help minimise waste without creating hygiene or overflow issues. A fortnightly collection might work for smaller households, but a one-size-fits-all approach isn’t practical for larger households or high-waste areas.

   I can tell you now as a famliy for 6, and we already do a lots of things to minimise our waste, we will not be able to limit our rubbish to 1 bin a fortnight.. Alots of famlies in our ares are much like us and if you drive around on rubbish day you can already see bin full to the top, over following. You will see that this fortnight bin collecting will end up costing the council more money as there will be more illegal dumping. I will be report any and every dump and area that is full with any type of rubbish.

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   No

   Tell us why?

   From my experience, the area we live in does not currently support efforts to minimise rubbish consumption. Many families in our community rely on affordable food options such as fast food or inexpensive supermarket snacks, which unfortunately come with significant packaging waste.

   Additionally, with the reduction of public rubbish bins, residents are now required to take their waste and recycling home, increasing household rubbish volumes. In short, the current economic and social conditions make it difficult for families in our area to meaningfully reduce waste production.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

To help address this issue, the Council could consider providing larger rubbish bins or additional capacity options, especially if collection frequency is being reduced. This would better support households that produce unavoidable packaging waste and help maintain clean, healthy communities without increasing illegal dumping or household overflow.

   First of all we only have one rubbish bin and it's smaller than the recycling bin.. One rubbish bin only fits 2 standard sized rubbish bags full of rubbish. 3-4days in the bins already full so where do expect us to take the rest to? Dump it illegally? Yes if households bins get full, they won't know what to do with the rest that can't fit in the bin and starts to pile up. What do you think they are going to do? They will dump it illegally somewhere. Me and my household we would never do such a thing but I have seen random places with dumped rubbish bags just sitting there. Illegal dumping is already an issue and it's going to get worse if this trial goes ahead. That's what I think will happen. This trial is a stupid idea. We are already trying to fit in rubbish into the bin as it is. Why would we want this headache added when we can just stick to how it's going now.

   We already get quite a lot of dumping in South Auckland and this change will make it worse. I walk through a park every day on the way to train station with a constant flow of dumped rubbish. This change will make that problem worse. This change won't reduce the amount of of rubbish produced by households in the area so will naturally result in more illegal dumping by those who can't afford to dump it at the tip themselves. Out of all the services rubbish collection is very much a core service and less core services should be cut first.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   Larger bins or cheaper options to drop waste at the tip could help make fortnightly workable. Also changes to reduce waste produced by households so this change is possible in the future would be better.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   Maybe up sizing would help with the fortnightly collection without increasing the rates. But even with that option the rubbish that we'll accumulate is equivalent to what we produce on a weekly basis and it won't make any difference to the environment.

   Hi,

   I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed fortnightly kerbside rubbish collection trial. Reducing the frequency of household rubbish collection from weekly to every two weeks will have significant negative impacts on residents, the environment, and overall public health.

   Weekly rubbish collection is essential for preventing the accumulation of waste, which can lead to unpleasant odors, pest infestations, and increased risk of vermin and insects. A fortnightly schedule would exacerbate these problems, particularly for families and households that generate a larger volume of waste.

   I have spoken with several of my neighbours about this issue, and they all share the same concerns and objections. For families with young children, this would be a disastrous decision.

For example, our household of four, including two young children and a cat, already makes every effort to reduce waste each week. However, items such as nappies and cat litter generate a significant amount of unavoidable rubbish. Many families in similar situations will face the same difficulties if the collection is reduced to once every two weeks.

Moreover, the trial may unintentionally encourage improper waste disposal, as residents may be forced to store rubbish for extended periods or illegally dump excess waste, further burdening our community and the environment.

While I understand that the council may be exploring ways to reduce costs or promote sustainability, this change is not practical for the residents and poses more problems than it solves. I strongly urge the council to reconsider this trial and maintain weekly kerbside rubbish collection as the standard service.

Thank you for considering my feedback. I hope the council will prioritize the well-being and convenience of its residents.

Many Thanks

Guan

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

As far as I understand, a large proportion of Auckland's waste currently comes from commercial and industrial sources, rather than from residential households. Meanwhile, our property rates continue to increase every year. It is unreasonable that while rates are rising, the level of essential services such as rubbish collection is being reduced.

   Rubbish bins are already over full. You drive down a any street on collection day and rubbish is pouring out of bins, spilling in to the streets. People illegally dumping rubbish will increa.

   We also already get rats due to the proximity to the sea and the abundance of fruit trees in the area, I cant imagine what it will look like when theres rubbish dumped or left on berms, in playground areas, beaches, walking parks and local sports facilities. There will be a severe domino effect to this process and it will only end up costing rate payers & tax payers money to clean the messes up.

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   No

   Tell us why?

   In the street I live the rubbish bins are over flowing with rubbish, let alone leaving it for a fortnightly puck up.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   What happens if peoples rubbish bins are full in one week, where will they put their excess rubbish? Will this be left on the sidewalk next to their bins?

   What will happen with excess rubbish that can't fit in bins? Will they be left on the side of the road?

   People are not going to think about down sizing their rubbish they are just going to find ways to dump the excess. EG: Public bins, parks or filling other peoples bins as soon as they are emptied. We have enough loose dogs roaming they will love the dumped rubbish bags - who will clean that up? We pay full rates will we be discounted for less rubbish collections as we are the ones loosing out and being put under pressure. Why Weymouth and Clendon? Why hit home owners who are doing their best to be house proud and keep their community clean. Lots of rentals in this community these tentants don't care about this impact on our community.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

It is not a well thought through idea and you are putting this in place right before Christmas. The time of the year where our community have overflowing bins and illegal dumping every year.

   We strongly oppose this trial. For families with children, collecting rubbish once every two weeks is definitely unreasonable. The council rates increase every year, yet the service is being cut in half, this is unacceptable. It will lead to large amounts of household waste being left around the community, and during summer, the stored rubbish will attract many insects and pests.

   STRONGLY DISAGREE WITH THIS TRIAL FOR THE CLENDON/WEYMOUTH AREA!!!!

   The expectations of the council and the realities of our community regarding Waste Management do not match. You're expecting large families to reduce the waste without address the areas in which the waste comes from - healthy affordable food options, plastic packaging from Fruit & Veg produce, the change in what can be recycled, the timeliness and efficiency of the Rubbish trucks. Has the Council taken into account waste management for families with infants or menstrual products?

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   It is a waste of time when the proposed options of support will not address the realities of what will happen. Not only that but there will be an increase in illegal dumping!! We already have that happening in our community. On top of this, whats the councils perspective of “Large Families” that this trial is being based from? Is it from households of 5 or more?

Scrap the trial.

   Manurewa is one of the least suitable areas for this trial. It shows a lack of understanding of the local community — this area is predominantly Pacific Island and Māori, with many large families. Anyone who has done weekly collections or been in a rubbish truck would know that the bins here are already overflowing.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   Fortnightly trials will work for a small amount of people such as a couples with no children, or retired pensioners. It is unrealistic to expect large families to cope.

   If you go forward with this trial the community will be angry. Illegal dumping will increase, it will be a BIG health hazard and it will cost the council more to clean up.

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   No

   Tell us why?

   The Clendon Park/Weymouth area already has significant issues on the weekly rubbish collection day with extra bags of rubbish piled on and around the red bins. These are attacked and split open by roaming dogs and seagulls resulting in rubbish being littered all over the street and neighborhood. This is exacerbated in any kind of windy conditions. In an area that also sees extensive curbside illegal dumping it is not reasonable to expect that people will stockpile two weeks of rubbish. Our own bins (red and yellow) are regularly full on collection day and there is no ability to store another weeks worth of rubbish. This will lead to increased illegal dumping and littering. The Clendon Park/Weymouth area contains large multi-generational family units. This is evident from the number of vehicles parked on and around each property. It is common to see 4-7 vehicles belonging to each house. It is not reasonable to expect that these large households will magically suddenly generate less rubbish on a weekly basis even alongside use of the scrap bucket and yellow recycling bins. I do not see any value to the general public of proceeding with the trial or the final proposal in this specific area but also most of South Auckland. Any potential savings either financial or environmental will be outweighed by the increased dumping and littering on streets and waterways, and the increased need for extra illegal rubbish removal and street cleaning.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

I anticipate that if this proposal were trialed the already existing issue of illegal use and dumping of shopping carts throughout the neighbourhood will just see bags of rubbish added to the dumped carts. I suspect that many business owners will also be impacted by increased illegal dumping in to and around their large bins and behind their places of business.

Is it proposed that the costs of taking rubbish to the waste transfer stations will be heavily subsidised by Council to offset the inconvenience to households who cannot store extra rubbish?

   Because it will not reduce waste, it will leave more dumped rubbish and more smells and flies. It will also cause areas to look more like slums, then anything else.    I am a family of 7. I have the 120L rubbish bin. It is full weekly. My 240L recycling bin is full fortnightly.

   -changing to a 240L rubbish bin will defeat the purpose of reducing waste anyway and if my landlord had allowed me to get a 240L bin for the weekly collection, I would have done that already

   -the minimal rates decrease will not be passed on to the more than 60% of renters in our area

   -we already have big issues with illegal dumping

   -we have a high percentage of roaming dogs, I have 6ft fences and a 4ft gate and still have roaming dogs in my yard regularly and we have had issues with them tipping bins over as well. Having rubbish sit for 2 weeks is likely going to exacerbate that.

-recycling rules are already complicated, Aotearoa already doesn't recycle much of even what is put in the recycling bins, this is likely to increase the amount of non recyclable items put in to the recycling bins

   Fortnightly rubbish collection will not net in zero waste. It will just cause overflowing rubbish bins and pollution problems especially when the animals that wonder the streets at night chew through the garbage bags that do not fit in those bins. , provide better recycling and better waste management education to help improve in the amount of waste that gets thrown out.

   Making residents with a bigger family pay for extra bins adds cost to an already expensive rates.

   Suggest we need to have the courage to at least trial this because it should reduce waste and increase food scraps being used beneficially. It should cost Aucklanders less, and Aucklanders all want that! Also, fewer bins on the kerb making it easier for footpath users. Fewer truck journeys - less congestion - a big issue for Aucklanders. Rewards and incentivises households like my own that produces little waste. Trial to support those who may struggle to manage so why not trial - it's just six months and the benefits are numerous.

   Ironically my household would be able to handle this no problem, the vast majority would not. Every week I see overflowing bins on rubbish day and often as ours is usually half empty it ends up with other peoples rubbish in it.

   Your suggestion that illegal dumping would not increase is naive. Its a major issue already and this will make it much worse

   I'm all for less rubbish and more recycling or even up-cycling but how would lazy citizens be held accountable if/when they choose to dump their excess? Will this assist us with cleaner streets or will the mess just get worse? Also, Why is it being proposed for fortnightly collections? Is it too save money? Is it to teach us about other ways we can minimise waste and maximise use? What is the reason...?

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   Community needs frequent meetings so we are all on the same page regarding community street cleans and keeping each other accountable while we help each other help the environment stay clean.

   How will citizens that breach these regulations be held accountable?

Will there be any classes of some sort to educate those with little knowledge about creating less waste and maximising uses to better our environment?

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   No

   Tell us why?

   I oppose the trial to change rubbish collection from weekly to fortnightly because it will not reduce the amount of rubbish produced—only how often it's collected. This could lead to overflowing bins, unpleasant odours, and pest issues, especially in Auckland's warm and wet climate or for larger households. While I support recycling and food scrap separation, reducing collection frequency is not the right solution. Additionally, rates are not being reduced as a direct result of this change, so ratepayers will not see any real cost savings despite receiving a lower level of service.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   Fortnightly rubbish collection may also lead to more illegal dumping as residents try to manage excess waste, which could create environmental and public health problems and increase cleanup costs for the Council. It may also unfairly impact families with young children, people with medical needs, or those in multi-tenant properties who produce more waste and have limited bin space. The assumption that all households can easily minimise rubbish through recycling and food scraps is unrealistic, as not all types of waste can be diverted.

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   No

   Tell us why?

   While I understand the intention to reduce landfill waste and encourage better use of recycling and food scrap bins, I believe this approach is impractical and counterproductive.

   Many households already struggle with managing their waste within the current weekly collection cycle. Extending this to fortnightly will likely result in overflowing bins, increased odours, and hygiene concerns, especially for families, shared housing, or those without access to composting solutions.

   The claim that fewer bins on the street will improve the look and feel of neighbourhoods seems disconnected from the reality of waste management. Overflowing bins and rubbish stored for longer periods will likely create more visual and environmental clutter, not less.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

I believe the Council should consider the practical realities faced by households before implementing this trial. Not all residents have the same capacity to manage waste. Larger families, people with medical needs, or those living in shared housing may generate more rubbish than can be reasonably stored over two weeks. Also, not everyone has access to composting.

Council also needs to consider seasonal impacts. Warmer months increase the risk of odours, pests, and hygiene issues when rubbish is left uncollected for longer periods. These factors could lead to more illegal dumping or misuse of bins, which would undermine the goals of the trial.

Rather than reducing collection frequency, I suggest the Council focus on improving education around waste separation and potentially offering incentives for reducing landfill waste. A one-size-fits-all approach is not suitable for a diverse city like Auckland.

   The trial area near me has seen a significant intensification of housing, typically 4-5 bedrooms plus garage which is often converted into another bedroom.

   Occupancy is very often made up of 4-6 adults plus children. So occupancy has intensified greatly. I'm theory council already collects less when compared on a power resident scale. Nothing in the information states that this intensification of residents was considered at all.

   The areas chosen are low socio economic areas with families larger than 2 or more kids with extra extended families living in the houses

   A lot of young children still in nappies

   So fornight rubbish collection will have bins overflowing, causing rats and maggots and the smell to be come terrible

   There will be much more illegal dumping or neighbours putting their rubbish into others bins and not using the correct bin

   (Which happens now , some neighbours putting their rubbish normal rubbish into the recycling bin so they are now contaminated and not collected)

   Currently the property is rented to the tenants.

   At rental property, I believe this change would likely lead to rubbish accumulating around the property, as tenants may not have sufficient bin space for two weeks' worth of waste. This could result in hygiene issues and attract pests such as rats and stray cats.

   My little red bin is over the top weekly, so if goes fortnightly where do I put my overflow, my recycle bin is full fortnightly, which can't fit anymore, if this does go ahead, I will be needing a bigger red bin, the smell around the neighbourhood will go up as well.

   My thoughts you will save money on drivers doing fortnightly, but won't make a difference with the amount of rubbish that goes to waste, this area is starting to look nicer, I'm sure that rubbish dumping will be on the rise big time, big eating families around these areas.

   Because it is barely manageable for a household of 8 to do weekly collections and its going to cause a lot of illegal dumping in our area.

   It is a very unfair process to have our areas subjected to these trials when there was no reasonable consultative process into the selection of the trial areas. It feels like an injustice that we have had this thrust upon us because some Council group/person deemed it so. But meanwhile our area is home to some of most vulnerable and low income families that have large and extended families living under the one roof and who through no fault of their own have alot of waste due to it. We already have high rates of rubbish dumping right now!, so fortnightly pickups will only exacerbate things.

   Personally I needed to pay auckland council for a larger bin to keep up/ deal with the amount of rubbish accumulated by my household.

   With moving to two weekly collections then even with the larger bin, We'll be back to where we were with the smaller bin.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   I know from driving through the area on rubbish collection day there are many households that have over flowing bins as it is. Where is the over flow going to go?

There is already a large problem with people dumping rubbish in our parks and beaches, with moving to fortnightly collections, this issue will most likely much worse. Making these areas even more unsafe and unusable to the greater community.

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   This proposal does not reflect the realities of whānau living in Weymouth. Our household includes multiple generations, and our weekly rubbish bin is already at capacity. Reducing collection frequency will lead to overflowing bins, hygiene issues, and increased stress for families trying to manage waste responsibly.

   We host hui, tangihanga, and large gatherings—our waste patterns are shaped by tikanga and whānau obligations. This trial feels like a one-size-fits-all solution that ignores the cultural and practical needs of South Auckland communities.

   Roscommon Road is already a dumping hotspot. Less frequent collection will worsen illegal dumping and shift the burden onto our neighbourhood. The proposed rates remission is minimal and does not offset the time, cost, and inconvenience of managing excess rubbish.

We already recycle and use food scrap bins. This trial punishes households doing the right thing by removing a basic service we rely on.

Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider? The trial design excludes multi-unit housing and businesses, yet these generate significant waste. Why trial in high-density areas like Weymouth without including all contributors?

If Council is serious about waste minimisation, it must engage with whānau realities, not impose blanket solutions. We need support that's culturally responsive, equitable, and grounded in the lived experience of our communities.

   I live in Goodwood Heights and I see the affects of not having enough bin capacity for household rubbish, dumping, bags of household rubbish dumped on the side of the road or areas on Goodwood drive where there are a lot of trees. Simply because there is not enough bin capacity. This happens a lot more in the trial area, Weymouth and Manurewa. I think rubbish bin capacity and collection frequency should remain weekly with occupants of a household reporting to council whether they needs a smaller bin or a bigger bin, I think forrnightly collections are going to make things harder for households to store rubbish, forcing people to dump more than they already are.

   I strongly oppose this trial, as it does not reflect the views or needs of ratepayers. The initiative has been introduced by the Council without adequate consultation, and the current 'Have Your Say' process appears to be a retrospective attempt at engagement rather than genuine consultation.

   A significant amount of ratepayers' money has already been spent on this trial, with little evidence that it delivers value or aligns with the community's priorities. The justification for this initiative appears to rest on internal Council targets, such as zero-waste objectives, which have not been clearly endorsed by ratepayers.

   In future, political parties and candidates should be transparent during elections about their positions on such policies — including potential consequences such as fortnightly rubbish collection — so that voters can make informed choices.

I therefore urge the Council to cancel this trial and cease further expenditure immediately. Rates have become unaffordable, and continued spending on initiatives that lack community support is unacceptable.

   No

   Tell us why?

   Fortnightly collection does not solve the issue of Aucklanders waste volume. I believe it will instead promote illegal dumping and contaminated recycling.

   This proposal is a terrible idea and trying to force people to use their food scraps bin instead only works for a small family of two people with 0-1 child. I live alone, use my food scraps bin, and find weekly collection just right.

   My situation is rare with the majority of families in the Clendon Park area being multi generational, with several children. Nappies - how do they dispose of nappies with a reduced collection? We will see more rubbish on the streets rather than waste bins if this fortnightly collection goes ahead.

   Will you be increasing recycling then to weekly? Most of the waste is not recyclable either, so it has to go in the weekly waste bins.

It will not solve any issues. Reduced rates? Most of the people living in Clendon Park aren't home owners so this "benefit" doesn't apply for most.

Proposed fortnightly collection should not go ahead!!

   Residents are nervous, thinking we are going to have a bigger problem. People already dump rubbish, and we feel this will only get worse.

   You only have to take a drive around the area to see many bins are overflowing with the weekly collections. This area has large families who produce a lot of rubbish. Don't penalise them for this

   I'm all for reducing waste and being a greener city. I just feel council are all about cutting services. First it was public bins now residential. Please think about the impact this will have on our community. This could increase vermon in the area as so many are not exactly hygienic when it comes to their bins.

   I think trialing this in areas that have done well in using the green waste bins (as this brings the waste down a lot) is a good idea. Trialing in areas like Clendon is not a good idea. Only our household and maybe two others on our street even use the green bins. I think we need to reduce waste through targeted education, and ensure a population is ready before carrying out trials and causing a lot of stress and illegal dumping.

   There are many large households im the Clendon Weymouth area. Many propertirs have 10 or more occupants. Many are rentalss. The 120l Rubbish are too small for weekly collection as is. Bins already overflow. Landlords will not pay for 240l bin. This will not work it is the most idiotic thing that is being foisted onto the majority. There will be more rubbish dumped on roadsides parks etc than already is. BTW I livd just outside the trisl area.    In Clendon/Weymouth there is a huge issue with illegal dumping. On windy days when the rubbish is collected it already ends up all over the streets. My sons and i get out and collect the rubbish off our street for our neighbours because we homeschool therefore have the time and dont want it clogging up our drains. Its also teaching them kaitiakitanga.

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   Tell us why?

   This proposal is completely out of touch with the reality in Weymouth. People are already struggling to manage their waste because the current bins are too small for most households. Overcrowding is a serious issue here — with many homes housing two or even three families in a single three-bedroom property. Naturally, that means more waste and overflowing bins.

   If Auckland Council moves to fortnightly collections, all you'll be doing is encouraging more illegal dumping — which is already a growing problem in our streets and reserves. I currently pay extra for a large bin because our weekly rubbish doesn't fit in the standard one. So will I now receive a 50% discount if you're only collecting it half as often?

   This plan punishes households that are already doing their best to manage waste responsibly. Instead of cutting back services, Council should be looking at real solutions that reflect the living conditions and population density in this area.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

I strongly oppose the move to fortnightly rubbish collection in Weymouth without proper consideration of our local realities.

Overcrowded housing: Around 8.9% of Auckland households are overcrowded — for Pacific peoples it's 44%, and for Māori 25.5% (Auckland Council, 2024). In Weymouth, many homes house 2–3 families in 3-bedroom properties, producing far more waste than the standard bins can handle.

Illegal dumping is already a crisis: Auckland Council received 16,681 reports of illegal dumping last year, costing ratepayers $2.7 million to clean up (1News, 2024). Reducing collections will only make this worse.

Unfair for paying customers: I currently pay extra for a large bin because our weekly rubbish doesn't fit the standard one. If collections are halved, will residents receive a 50% discount or an exemption from the trial?

Health and hygiene risks: Overflowing bins attract pests, create odour issues, and pose a public health hazard — especially in summer and for families with young children.

Suggested Solutions

Provide larger or extra bins before any trial begins.

Apply a sliding scale rate reduction for those paying for bigger bins.

Run the trial only alongside weekly food-scrap and recycling collections (as seen in Hamilton and Tauranga, where landfill waste dropped by 50%).

Closely monitor illegal dumping and allow affected areas to opt out if dumping increases.

This proposal, in its current form, punishes households already under pressure. Council must tailor waste services to reflect the real living conditions and density of communities like Weymouth.

   The rebate offered $23 for a 6 month trial is a total joke, infact I think the Council are taking the * on that one. Under your proposal bins will be collected 12 times instead of 24, you are offering all of us less than $1 per week as a rebate. No thanks forget it that's an insult to all of our intelligence.

Do two inorganic per year and give 1 free dump pass to each household per year. Then make the law that anyone caught dumping gets a heavy fine. And enforce it.

Fast track bottle collections and returns this will lessen waste heaps.

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   Tell us why?

   I have serious concerns regarding the proposed rubbish collection trial in the Clendon/Weymouth area. While I understand the intent behind trialling new waste management systems, I believe this initiative is not suitable for our community at this time, and I urge you to reconsider its implementation in our neighbourhood.

   Firstly, our area already faces significant challenges with waste management. It is not uncommon for residents to find that others have placed their rubbish in their bins without permission. This not only infringes on personal property but also creates the risk of contamination. If incorrect items are placed in the wrong bins, residents may be unfairly penalised with fines, despite having no control over the misuse of their bins.

   Secondly, the prevalence of roaming dogs in our community poses a serious issue. These animals frequently knock over bins, especially the smaller, low-to-the-ground food scraps bins, which are already underutilised due to their impractical size. The result is often a mess of scattered waste, which is both unsightly and unhygienic. I have personally had to clean up such messes on multiple occasions, and it is not only unpleasant but also poses a health risk to residents.

Additionally, I live in a cul-de-sac near a reserve, and I am deeply concerned that the trial will lead to increased illegal dumping in these areas. There is a real risk that rubbish will be left in the reserve or at the end of the cul-de-sac, creating an eyesore and attracting pests. If waste ends up in the street gutters, it could block drains and lead to flooding—something I have unfortunately experienced firsthand.

The accumulation of rubbish on the streets also raises serious public health concerns. Decomposing waste can attract rodents and other pests, contributing to the spread of disease and creating an unsafe environment for families and children in the area.

In light of these issues, I strongly believe that the Clendon/Weymouth area is not currently equipped to handle the proposed rubbish collection trial. I urge the council to reconsider this initiative and instead focus on addressing the existing waste management challenges in our community before introducing new systems that may exacerbate the problem.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

A potential upgrade in the area could be Improved Bin Design and Security - The current food scraps bins are too small and easily tipped over by animals. Larger, sturdier bins with secure lids and locking mechanisms would help prevent spillage and reduce the attraction for pests and roaming animals.

I strongly and unequivocally oppose the proposed rubbish collection trial in Clendon/Weymouth. Our community already faces serious issues with illegal dumping, roaming dogs, overflowing bins, and blocked drains that have caused flooding. The current food scraps bins are impractical and frequently lead to unhygienic messes. This trial will only worsen existing problems, increase health risks, and create further environmental hazards. It is not a solution, it is a step backwards! If this goes ahead, this area will be a dump to live in an even more unsafe and more roaming dogs and animals

   Currently we utilise our bins adequately and have found that we have more general rubbish than our current bin can hold. Collecting rubbish fortnightly despite having the support of having a larger bin would exacerbate the issue as we are a large family. Rubbish from children's lunch boxes are being sent home with our children to dispose of and it all adds up. I believe it would be likely other large families which make up the community we live in would experience the same issue. It's possible that this would lead to smells coming from neighbors properties and attract unwanted pests because of the overflow of rubbish. Additionally, I feel it's almost certain there would be a spike in illegal dumping of rubbish. Proposing this change would reduce the cleanliness of the area create practical issues, and untimely collections.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

I do not support rubbish being collected every fortnight. If you forget to put the rubbish out, it would be a month of rubbish sitting on our property. I don't see an issue with the visuals of rubbish bins being put out on the streets for collection, I see people doing the right thing.

   Quite simply I don't want it. I don't even need to justify why. The LAW says in the Local Governance Act 2002 you are supposed to be acting in my interest:

   https://www.legislation.govt.nz/act/public/2002/0084/latest/DLM170879.html

   The purpose of this Act is to provide for democratic and effective local government that recognises the diversity of New Zealand communities; and, to that end, this Act— (c)promotes the accountability of local authorities to their communities; and

   https://www.legislation.govt.nz/act/public/2002/0084/latest/DLM171803.html

   (a) to enable democratic local decision-making and action by, and on behalf of, communities; and

   https://www.legislation.govt.nz/act/public/2002/0084/latest/DLM171858.html

A regional council must have a governing body consisting of—members elected in accordance with the Local Electoral Act 2001; and

(3)

A governing body of a local authority is responsible and democratically accountable for the decision-making of the local authority.

You lie to me. From this propaganda:

Cities that have fortnightly rubbish collections with food scraps and recycling services see these benefits:

https://akhaveyoursay.aucklandcouncil.govt.nz/proposed-fortnightly-rubbish-collection-trial households use food scraps and recycling bins more

That is a LIE, the green scrap bins are not seen out on the curbs because they are not needed. That was voted for against the constituents wishes and thus against the LAW of Local Governance Act 2002, all the Council members who voted for those bins should be prosecuted!

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

You need to be prosecuted under the LAW for not representing your constituents as required by the LAW. The most clear evidence is in the uptake of the green scrap bins and was illegally installed as so obviously against the wishes of the constituents. Everyone here who voted for should be held to account to the LAW:

https://infocouncil.aucklandcouncil.govt.nz/Open/2024/10/20241010_PEPCC_MIN_11322.PDF

Section 14 captures those 'representatives' that voted For, which I believe can easily be shown is against their democratic constituents wishes.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   We should all be given the larger bins free so that nobody starts dumping again

   I live on my own so I probably won't be affected that much. I don't put my scraps bin out because I don't cook much. I'm annoyed that my rates are going up yet services are being reduced. Not exactly getting value for money

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   No

   Tell us why?

   Many reasons.

   1) We have lots of big families here and people aren't the most responsible in our area already with rubbish. This would lead to more dumping, particularly here.

   2) Weymouth is often selected for weird trials or rules that differ from the rest of Auckland. We're never protected from these changes or given a say. Eg. When they imposed a 30km/hr speed limit on Weymouth Road, despite areas like Takapuna having way more pedestrian traffic. We have come to the conclusion that people in Weymouth are less likely to complain, which is why they push these things through. It would never ever get past the residents of Devonport or Parnell.

   The people are great here, but literacy rates are low. People feel frustrated, but may not know how to complain or where to take the feedback. It's frustrating because this constantly happens and the council takes advantage to give us all of their trials because of the lack of pushback. It's entirely unfair and unjust.

3) This is solely an attempt to save money on rubbish collection, without reducing our rates.

The council says we will have a rate reduction if we stick with our smaller bins, but rates inevitably rise. Any 'saving' will be swallowed up by a rate rise.

We are paying too much for rates to have a reduced service. To keep paying the same (or more!) to have the service cut in half is not on.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

Don't do it. Anywhere.

   I know that in my neighbourhood alone there are a lot of households that have multiple families living on the same home. Our rubbish bins are full to capacity with the current weekly collection. If we were to change to fortnightly collections, I am vision that a lot of rubbish will be overflowing in their rubbish bins causing disease in the street. Also making the neighbourhood look dirty.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   It it unfair that you are choosing a low class community to do your experiments on. South Auckland is known to have a higher child/parent ratio and a higher poverty rate. These people cannot afford the luxury of taking extra rubbish to the landfills and paying for it.

   Has anybody from the council actually driven around the trial area on a normal weekly pick up day. There are overflowing bins, bags stacked on top of bins. We know in our area of Weymouth that people place the overflow from their bins into the rubbish bins in public spaces or over the banks of nearby beaches landing on to the beach. Some (not all)of the local rental properties can have as many as 7-8 people living in one house to save money on rent. A bi weekly rubbish collection would have nasty effects on the environment especially if the rubbish bins are already over full with weekly rubbish collection.

Black sacs of goodness knows what and then multiple loads of greenwaste. We have complained to council in the past and all that happened was a letter to everyone and an anti dumping sign went up. We have given up complaining..... we just paid $700 to get all our greenwaste pruning removed and then we see people taking the greenwaste down and dumping.....annoys the heck out of us.    My neighbourhood have multiple families in the one home, their bins overflow weekly. Changing to fortnightly without offering bigger bins to begin with, will have flies, stray dogs rummaging through the rubbish that will absolutely be all over the place. No one cleans up their rubbish after it empties out onto the road. I am a solo mum with 2 kids, our bins are never full, but bin day, neighbours overflow ours also. What would you propose to ensure the park I live by doesn't get used as a dump site for those who's bins are overflowing?

   In Weymouth, we already have a SIGNIFICANT amount of public dumping, if collections reduce to 2-weekly - the dumping will only get worse!

   We are already overrepresented with Kaianga Ora and their high-density housing initiatives - none of the tenants' care about our community and keeping the streets clean - waste management is everyone's responsibility and unfortunately this proposal is only going to compound the issue!

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   The people doing the public dumping are the same people who are ignoring Council guidelines on animal (dog) management. Why aren't Kaianga Ora and the Council working on a combined initiative to educate/monitor "the randoms" they have allowed into our community. As a homeowner in the Weymouth area, it feels like we've been "dumped" with the problem and no one in either establishment is helping fix the problem! How about some monitoring of the households/developments that have been introduced - you will sort out the rubbish and dog issues very quickly!

   Because It will lead to a backup of rubbish. I know that people specifically in this area have their bins full every week. If it is weekly I can assure you that we will have rubbish dumped in different places just so people can get rid of their weekly rubbish. Fortnightly rubbish won't suit me as my bins are usually full every week. Recycle bins are already every fortnight which is fine, I think it will be much harder to contain rubbish if it was to go every fortnight.

   This may be a more reasonable change in areas with established quality waste management, but South Auckland— Manurewa especially already has significant ossues with fly-tipping and rubbish being dumped in reserves and at parks.

   This change is utterly ridiculous, and shows a complete lack of forethought and planning. Weymouth already has people with poor waste management. This change doesn't encourage improved management, but rather will encourage dumping and increase community litter.

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   Yes

   Tell us why?

   Initially, I thought it was a bad idea but seeing over flowing rubbish bins each week and the poor response to using the food scraps bin in our area, I began to think perhaps there was merit in having a trial as we do need data to prove this would be a good or bad idea. We also need to do a massive education programme in this area. Personally, as we are a 2 person household that produces very little rubbish, (we already only put our small rubbish bin out fortnightly), we recycle, compost and use the food scraps bin for the little amount we can't compost, so we are already doing whatever we can but we have the time, energy and interest in reducing our rubbish as much as possible. I did have concerns, especially after I attended a meeting organized by Daniel Newman, but after reading the printed information I picked up at the library, read the information you have online, including the transcript of the video and spoken with someone at one of the drop in sessions, we absolutely need to do this. I am very aware that we live in a, low socio economic area with large households and many don't have the time/inclination/ energy/knowledge to manage their waste better. I am also concerned that the information and knowledge I have taken the time to find out about, is not going to be accessed by the very people who need to read it and get better informed.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

I think the council needs to do a massive information campaign to make sure the people in the proposed trial areas understand why this needs to be done, the support available, the reasons why these areas were chosen etc to counter the scare mongering tactics I heard at the Weymouth public meeting. It has been made to sound as if going to fortnightly collection is a done deal and this trial is just tokenism so I am concerned that who shouts loudest will be heard and negatively impact the feedback process due to lack of knowledge and information by people who have already made up their minds without being properly informed. I think some Auckland Council staff should be present at the meeting to be held on 23rd October at the Weymouth Rugby Club, starting at 7pm to make sure those present are fully informed

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   No

   Tell us why?

   Households in Clendon vary greatly in size and circumstance. Many families, including those with infants, elderly relatives, or individuals with medical needs, generate unavoidable hygiene waste such as nappies, incontinence products, and sanitary materials. These items cannot be safely or hygienically stored for two weeks without creating serious odour, bacterial growth, and pest issues. The accumulation of such waste, particularly during warmer months, presents a genuine health concern.

   A reduction in collection frequency would also disproportionately affect larger families and those with limited waste storage space. Overflowing bins can attract vermin, cause littering, and lead to illegal dumping—issues that contradict the council's environmental and community wellbeing goals.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

I respectfully request that Auckland Council reconsider this proposal and instead explore more balanced and inclusive solutions, such as:

Maintaining weekly rubbish collection for all households; or

Providing exemptions or additional bin capacity for households with infants, elderly residents, or medical needs; and

Investing in community education around recycling and composting to reduce landfill waste in a sustainable way.

Any changes to core waste services should follow transparent community consultation and a comprehensive health and environmental impact assessment. Our community deserves to be part of that process.

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   No

   Tell us why?

   Moving to fortnightly collection will NOT give you any idea why people aren't using their scrap bins. Maybe you should get a team to visit households on rubbish day and question householders as to why a scraps bin isn't out and ask what would motivate people to use their scrap bin. Having a trial of fortnightly collection will not provide any clue as to rubbish usage and is simply a polite and sneaky move by council to move to fortnightly rubbish collection permanently. The mess that will ensue during the trial with rubbish on the street will be paid for out of the ratepayer's expenses at a time when the council is already struggling to pay its costs. I am not happy to pay for that as a ratepayer.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

You comment in your consultation document that ".. we'll gather data by monitoring how full bins are on collection day." Bins are already full during the weekly collection and I am interested to know why you don't already have any data in your document as to why bins are full on a weekly basis. Your recommended trial is based simply on someone's suggestion and not on 'any' statistical data. You can't have a trial when you have no base-line to compare the difference in the trial. Your consultation document also states "... use of the three bins (rubbish, recycling and food scraps)...". Recycling is already fortnightly and scraps collection is remaining weekly so you can collect your data on both now as neither is changing under the trial. Why don't you simply say you wish to see how people handle fortnightly rubbish collection instead of providing comment that is inaccurate.

   The first start to waste reduction would be for central government to legislate the packaging sector into making all packaging recyclable or returnable.    Mine is a single person household with low rubbish volume. I am not a meat eater and use a compost bin for most food scraps. The scheme could work for someone like me but I have only lived in Weymouth for the last five years and it is common to see rubbish dumped on the side of the road, particularly close to the beach area where public bins are placed. I support efforts to reduce waste, but I am not sure there is enough to show how this will be managed. If people are going to be using food waste bins weekly I don't see how this cuts down in a measurable way on rubbish collection.

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   No

   Tell us why?

   You are insane for thinking this. The dumping of waste will become so bad . Keep the rubbish collection's as they are and stop thinking that people will do the right thing. People always do the easiest thing. NOT THE RIGHT THING. Keep collection's weekly

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   There are a lot of families in the Clendon Park area and they will have too much rubbish for fortnightly collection. This will lead to rubbish dumping all over the community

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   If you are going ahead, despite community opposition, then we'll all be looking at how you will manage the dumping of rubbish.

   We have a family with 3 kids and already pay extra for a larger size bin. I don't beleive we could effectively store 2 weeks worth of rubbish without and additional bin. There are also some weeks when I am out of town on business and the rubbish doesn't get put out. If this was the case with a fortnightly collection, we would end up with 4 weeks worth of accumulated rubbish to put out.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   I think this is a knee jerk response to waste minimisation and will not work for all sizes of residential housing - especially for larger families or anyone who may miss a given fortnight for some reason.

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   No

   Tell us why?

   We live in a rented house and share bin with our owners. So there is one 120 ml bin for 5 people and it almost gets completely filled by the end of week. So making it 2 weeks would be a disaster. Since we obviously cannot keep the rubbish in the house we have no other option but to dump it somewhere else. Which in turn means you are forcing people for illegal dumping, fly tipping, and an additional waste of time.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   My proposal is if you genuinely care about reducing wastage, first allocate bin size based on the number of households. and then make it fortnightly. So people won't complain and take your word seriously. And promote recycling and composting techniques. Have more people talk about it in ads, through our local board leaders(if you can afford it). While the local board elected leaders promise weekly bin collection, here you are asking for fortnightly trial. It sounds like even government(people elected) is not on the same page as council. I think you have to focus more on that for betterment of Auckland.

   Weekly rubbish collection is important. Having fortnightly collection will lead to many problems. Our household fills up our bin every week. Nó collection would be a big problem. If we were to miss a collection it would be a disaster. I think there would be increased illegal dumping on streets when neighbours miss collections

1. To help understand the impacts on waste minimisation, do you think we should trial fortnightly rubbish collection in selected areas?

   There is already an issue with rubbish in Clendon/weymouth where people just throw their rubbish everywhere. Every week for rubbish collections majority of the bins outside are overfull, changing the rubbish collection fortnightly will only just increase the dumping of rubbish and waste disposal. People who throw like that, do you really think this proposed change will make people consider the amount of waste they throw? Absolutely not. This will just make matters worse.

2. Do you have any other feedback on the proposed trial for the council to consider?

   Silly location to trial. The population and housing density is high - Clendon/weymouth is not an appropriate location to trial let alone fortnightly rubbish collection is a poor idea that hasn't been considered and thought through properly. This initiative doesn't fit the purpose of the population is South Auckland. There are bigger issues to attend to than reducing the frequency of rubbish disposal.
